Shanghai Day 1 Map Rescue

A realistic before-and-after pack for a visitor who already chose eight Shanghai places but needs the local destinations, Chinese driver text and a route that does not waste the day.

public places	compact day	street walking	manually checked

ROUTE AT A GLANCE

Yu Garden North Gate → Shanghai City God Temple → Chen Yi Square at the Bund → Fairmont Peace Hotel → Nanjing Road Century Square → Shanghai First Food Store → West Entrance of Nanjing Road Pedestrian Street → Shanghai People's Square

Finish the time-limited garden and temple area first, then move north to the Bund and continue west along Nanjing Road. This avoids a southbound backtrack from People's Square and reduces the risk of reaching Yu Garden after admissions close.

ROUTE SANITY CHECK

What this pack catches before the trip

- Do not start at People's Square and then return south to Yu Garden. That creates a backtrack and may put the garden after its final admission time.
- Yu Garden, Yuyuan Bazaar, Shanghai City God Temple and similarly named food shops are different POIs. Use the recorded Amap IDs.
- Shanghai Station (上海站) and Shanghai Hongqiao Railway Station (上海虹桥站) are different. This sample does not include a train journey, but every paid pack checks for the wrong station.
- Nanjing East Road has pedestrian and traffic-controlled sections. A taxi card asks for the nearest legal drop-off, not a promise that a car can stop at the door.
- Holiday crowd controls can temporarily change Bund passages and Metro exits. Follow current Amap and station signs on the day.

LIMITS OF THIS DEMONSTRATION

This demonstration was cross-checked online on 16 July 2026 and was not field-checked in person. It organizes public place information; it is not a booking, guide, tour, visa or legal service. Entrances, hours, tickets, access rules and transport conditions can change and must be rechecked close to travel.

For a paid pack, each POI and time-sensitive rule is checked again close to delivery. One revision is included, but a different city or a new itinerary is a new order.
